WHAT IS “POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION?”

Post-secondary education is any additional education or training after high school that is needed to attain a career that fits your talents and skill set. Institutions of post-secondary education include not only four-year colleges and universities but also two-year community colleges, 12-18 month programs, cosmetology, and trade schools. At the end of a prescribed course of study or program, a degree or certificate is awarded.

Examples of post-secondary education include:

- 4-year Bachelor’s degree (UNL, UNO, UNK, Wayne State, Hastings College, Iowa, University of Northern Iowa, etc.)
- 2-year Associate’s degree (Community Colleges such as Metro CC, Central CC, Northeast CC, Western NE CC, Iowa Western CC, WIT etc.)
- Certification (Cosmetology or Barber school, Computer technology school, Trade school, Welding, Auto mechanics, etc.)
- Military (Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, National Guard)

In America, more education/training = being more likely to be employed. Let us look at how recent college graduates stack up to high school graduates:

- 44% are employed without a high school diploma
- 57% are employed with a high school diploma
- 66% are employed with some college or associate degree
- 74% are employed with a Bachelor degree or higher

But most importantly, the more education/training you receive the more money you will make! Let us take a look at the average annual earnings in respect to the different education levels:

Education attained	Average weekly earnings	Average monthly earnings	Average annual earnings
Doctoral degree	$1,743.00	$6,972.00	$97,916
Professional degree	$1,836.00	$7,344.00	$96,772
Master’s degree	$1,401.00	$5,604.00	$77,844
Bachelor’s degree	$1,173.00	$4,692.00	$64,896
Associate’s degree	$836.00	$3,344.00	$46,124
Some additional post-secondary education or training, no degree	$774.00	$3,096.00	$43,316
High school diploma	$712.00	$2,848.00	$38,792
Less than a high school diploma	$520.00	$2,080.00	$30,784
*Note: Earnings are for full-time wage and salary workers.

WHERE DO I GET STARTED?

1. Create a personal/professional e-mail account. This is how schools and scholarships you apply for will communicate with you. It is suggested to use your name and year of graduation. Only use one email address for all post-secondary communication!
 - a. Good examples: jacimckeever2022@gmail.com or jmcckeever2022@gmail.com
 - b. Bad examples: lgotswag2022@hotmail.com, prettyprincess22@gmail.com
2. Set a goal to maintain a MINIMUM 2.5 cumulative GPA. Your cumulative GPA determines your admission to certain colleges, scholarship opportunities, and class rank. Most scholarship opportunities require at least a 2.5 cumulative GPA.
3. Take the ACT exam. Most four-year colleges require that you take the ACT. To be admitted into most four-year colleges, you need to score at least a 20 (UNL, UNO, UNK, etc.). Please see below the upcoming ACT test dates and talk to your counselor about signing up OR visit www.actstudent.org.

Dates of ACT Test for 2020 – 2021

Test Date	Deadline	Late Deadline	Online Score Release*
Sept 11, 2021	Aug 6, 2021	Aug 20, 2021	Sept 27-Nov 5th
Oct 23, 2021	Sept 17, 2021	Oct 1, 2021	Nov 9-Dec30th
Dec 11, 2021	Nov 5, 2021	Nov 19, 2021	Dec 21 st - Feb. 4th
Feb 12, 2022	Jan 7, 2022	Jan 21, 2022	Feb 25 th - April 7th
Apr 2, 2022	Feb 25, 2022	Mar 11, 2022	Apr 12 th - June 23rd
June 11, 2022	May 6, 2022	May 20, 2022	June 21 st - Aug. 5th
July 16, 2022	June 17, 2022	June 24, 2022	July 26 th - Sept. 9th

4. Draft your Personal essay/Statement. Many college and scholarship applications request students to submit a personal essay/statement so the sooner you get started on this, the easier your college and scholarship application process will be in the fall. Your personal essay/statement gives you an opportunity to communicate your career aspirations, post-secondary education goals, family background, any obstacles or challenges you had to face, and why it's important for you to be considered for acceptance or this particular scholarship.
5. Identify up to 3 references. When applying for colleges and scholarships, you will be asked to provide up to 3 letters of recommendations from individuals who will be able to highlight your potential, talk about your strong attributes, and express a strong case why you should be considered for their school or scholarship.

Iowa College Access Network (ICAN)

ICAN has served the educational community and the students of Iowa since 1998. ICAN's mission is to empower Iowans to achieve lifelong success through education, training, and informed decision-making . ICAN helps nearly 800,000 students, parents and education professionals prepare for college each year.

Planning for a career and college, filing for financial aid and mastering your financial situation can be confusing and intimidating. For that reason, ICAN's team of Student Success Advisors work directly with Iowa students and their families. Whether at one of ten ICAN locations, at a career and college access program in an individual community or school, through email or by phone, ICAN's team of experts are here for every Iowan. All ICAN programs and services are offered without charge.

Future Ready Iowa Last-Dollar Scholarship

A state-funded program for Iowans who:

- Are recent high school graduates enrolling in an eligible program full-time OR recent high school graduates who are enrolling in an eligible program part-time and are employed in an approved work-based learning program OR adult learners (20 and older) starting an eligible program at least part-time
- Have applied for all other available aid
- Plan to earn a credential for a high-demand job

This program, as the name implies, is intended to cover any remaining gap between federal and state grants/scholarships and tuition and qualified fees. Credentials include postsecondary certificates, diplomas and associate degrees.

Eligible Students:

NEW HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES who enroll in a qualified program of study full-time or enroll in an eligible program part-time along with an approved work-based learning program following high school graduation, apply for all other available state and federal grants and scholarships, and meet ongoing requirements.

Eligible Schools

Eligible institutions are Iowa community colleges or accredited private colleges in Iowa that offer qualified programs of study and that agree to provide student services (including orientation and academic and career advising) and to facilitate the assignment of a volunteer mentor if a student requests one.

Eligible Programs

Because this list is based on job demand, it might change from year to year. Students whose programs are removed from the list will still be eligible for the Last-Dollar Scholarship until they complete their credentials or leave school, as long as they meet all other eligibility criteria.

Iowa Tuition Grant

Iowa Tuition Grants are awarded to Iowa residents enrolled at one of Iowa's eligible private colleges and universities.

Eligibility Criteria

- Iowa resident
- Undergraduate enrollment in an associate or bachelor degree
- Enrolled at an eligible Iowa private college or university
- FAFSA submitted by July 1
- Have an eligible Expected Family Contribution (EFC) on the FAFSA

All Iowa Opportunity Scholarship

The All Iowa Opportunity Scholarship (AIOS) is a state-funded scholarship program for Iowa students who attend an eligible Iowa college/university.

Priority for Awards

- Students who age out of Iowa's foster care system, age out of the State Training School, and students adopted from Iowa's foster care system after age 16
- Children of deceased public safety workers (including peace officers, police, firefighters, sheriffs and deputy sheriffs)
- Students who participated in certain federal TRIO programs while in high school (Upward Bound, Talent Search, Educational Opportunity Center)
- Students who graduated from alternative high schools or alternative high school programs
- Students who participated in a Federal GEAR UP Grant program in Iowa

Eligibility Criteria

Generally, high school seniors who graduated in 2020 or will graduate with the class of 2021 are eligible for the All Iowa Opportunity Scholarship if they meet the following criteria:

- Iowa resident
- Attending an eligible Iowa college or university
- Must have graduated from an eligible Iowa high school or completed a high school equivalency diploma within the last 2 years
- Be a first-time college freshman in the fall 2021 or spring 2022 semesters (unless you are renewing your scholarship award)
- Must be continuously enrolled in college and continuously receiving a scholarship disbursement to renew a scholarship
- Enroll for at least 3 semester hours (or the trimester or quarter equivalent) in a program leading to an undergraduate degree, diploma or certificate
- Complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and Iowa Financial Aid Application by March 1
- Have an eligible Expected Family Contribution (EFC) on the 2021-22 FAFSA. (For reference, the eligible EFC range in 2020-21 was $0-$9,288.)

WAYS TO PAY FOR POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION FREE APPLICATION FOR FEDERAL STUDENT AID (FAFSA)

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is the form required for applying for federal and state financial aid. It can be filed on or after October 1st of your senior year. We encourage students to file as early as possible to receive the best financial aid package available.

You will need to start by creating an account at www.studentaid.gov. Each student will need to create an account and if the student is dependent, one parent will need to create an account. Your FSA ID (username and password) will be used to sign into the FAFSA (always log in using the student's information) and also to sign the FAFSA. The student will also use the FSA ID to log into www.studentaid.gov to fill out and sign any student loan promissory note.

For a list of items needed to complete the FAFSA go to <https://www.educationquest.org/pdfs/FAFSAchecklist.pdf>

There are four ways that mentees can pay for their post-secondary education without using their own money:

1. Financial Aid Grants –grants are funds by the U.S Department of Education as determined after the filing of the FAFSA, which is to help students of low-income families in receiving additional funding to pay for their post-secondary education. Grants may come from federal government the state or the college. Students DO NOT have to pay back these funds and are usually awarded based on financial need.
2. Scholarships - a grant or payment made to support a student's post-secondary education. Students DO NOT have to pay back these funds and are usually based off their academics, financial need, involvement, athletics, and other specific criteria.
3. Financial Aid Work-Study Programs – a federally funded program that assists students with the costs of post-secondary education as determined after the filing of the FAFSA. It helps students earn extra financial funding through a part-time job on campus.
4. Financial Aid Federal Student Loans – a Federal Student loan is offered and provided by the federal government as determined after the filing of the FAFSA. Students DO have to pay back these funds with interest, but not until AFTER they complete their post-secondary education.

FINANCIAL AID PELL-GRANTS EXPECTED FAMILY CONTRIBUTION (EFC)

The maximum Pell Grant award for the 2021-2022 award year is $6,495, and the corresponding maximum Pell Grant eligible Expected Family Contribution (EFC) is $5,846. The Expected Family Contribution (EFC) estimates the expected contribution of a student's family for the year and helps gain insight into the student's financial aid eligibility. It is a measure of a student's family financial strength and is calculated according to a formula established by law. The family's taxed and untaxed income, assets, and benefits (such as unemployment or Social Security), family size and the number of family members who will attend college during the year are all considered.

The information you report on your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is used to calculate your EFC. Schools use the EFC to determine a student's federal student aid eligibility and financial aid award. PLEASE NOTE: A student's EFC is NOT the amount of money the family will have to pay for college nor is it the amount of federal student aid a student will receive. It is a number used by the school to calculate the amount of federal student aid they are eligible to receive.

FINANCIAL AID WORK-STUDY

The Federal Financial Aid Work-Study program is an educational plan in which students alternate between paid employment and formal study. It provides a method for post-secondary education students to earn funds that are used toward their education by working a part-time job on campus. The program is based on financial need and students must be accepted into the program to qualify AFTER their FAFSA is completed. Eligible college students join work programs through their college to earn money for tuition and other expenses. There are many different types of jobs that qualify for the program. Students are assured of receiving at least federal minimum wage for the duration of their employment. The Federal Work-Study program helps to ensure that college students who are truly in need of the money get the jobs. Federal Work-Study provides part-time jobs for undergraduate and graduate students with financial need, allowing them to earn money to help pay education expenses. The program encourages community service work and work related to the recipient's course of study.

How does it work

Federal Work Study funding is given to institutions to provide part-time work opportunities for students with financial need and/or involved in certain majors. Federal funding is made to participating institutions based on requests made by the institutions. A statutory formula is used to help institutions determine the allocations to request. Once funds are allocated to each institution, it is up to that school to administer the funds. Once all the funds for the institution have been allocated, no more students can participate that year. Some of the jobs offered are often reading tutors for young children, literacy tutors and mathematics tutors. Other jobs can be on campus such as working in the library or student center or performing administrative functions in the office. Some institutions may have restrictions on the number of hours per week that you can work. Also, there may be restrictions that pertain to your grade point average. For example, if your grade point average slips below a certain point, the college may not allow you to work through the FWS program.

To apply for the Federal Work-Study Program and determine if you qualify and how much money you will receive, students MUST file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

FEDERAL STUDENT LOANS

Federal Student Loans are a form of financial aid provided by the government as a part of a student's financial aid package after completing their FAFSA to help students afford post-secondary education. Student loans must be repaid in contrast to other forms of financial aid such as scholarships and grants. It is important to understand and contrast the different types of loans offered to students. Research studies show that OVER 70% of college students take out student loans.

Generally, there are two types of student loans:

- Federal Student loans: These loans are funded by the federal government.
- Private Student loans: These loans are nonfederal loans, made by a lender such as a bank, credit union, state agency, or a school.

If a student needs to borrow extra money to pay for college or career school, they should start with federal student loans. There are 3 types of federal student loans are:

1. Direct Subsidized Loans (up to $3,500 a year)
2. Direct Unsubsidized Loans (up to $2,000 for dependent freshman students, $5,000 for independent)
3. Direct PLUS Loans (for graduate and professional students or parents)

For additional information on loans: https://www.educationquest.org/pdfs/loan_chart.pdf

SCHOLARSHIPS

A Scholarship is an amount of money that is given by an organization, community, school, etc., to a student to help pay for their post-secondary education. Most scholarships are paid directly to the post-secondary school the student attends, rather than issued directly to the student. A scholarship does not have to be repaid by the student. Scholarships are most often given, but not limited, to students for the following reasons:

- 1) Academic: These awards are based on a student's academic abilities, and often factor in an applicant's extracurricular activities and community service record. The most common academic scholarships, awarded by either private organizations or directly by a student's intended college, recognize academic achievement such as GPA (grade point average) or high scores on standardized tests (ACT, SAT, etc.).
- 2) Need-based: These awards are based on the student and family's financial record and require applicants to fill out a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to qualify if the scholarship is a federal award. Private need-based scholarships also often require the results of a FAFSA, which calculates a student's financial need through a formula that looks at the expected family contribution and cost of attendance at the intended college.
- 3) Student-specific: These are scholarships for which applicants must initially qualify based upon gender, race, religion, family and medical history, or many other student-specific factors. Minority scholarships are the most common awards in this category.
- 4) Career-specific: These are scholarships a college or university awards to students who plan to pursue a specific field of study. Often, the most generous awards to students who pursue careers in high-need areas such as education, nursing, engineering, or agriculture.
- 5) College-specific: College-specific scholarships are offered by individual colleges and universities to highly qualified applicants. These scholarships, given on the basis of academic and personal achievement, usually result in either a full-ride to the college, or for a reduced rate of tuition.

Other common criteria used to award scholarships include:

GPA	Financial Need	Ethnicity	ACT/SAT score
Field of study	First-generation student	Talents	Community service
Employer	Leadership	College choice	Activities

Military service	Disability	State of residence	Gender

HOW TO APPLY FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Many scholarship applications request students to write a personal essay or statement. It is...

- An introduction to the scholarship committee
- A picture of the student; a student's story
- An invitation to get to know the student, their goals, and their passions in life

When applying for a scholarship, committees are looking for 3 things in your personal essay:

1. Introduction. They want to know who you are – high school, hometown, etc. They also want to know that you know what you want - your interests and career path, motivation, and your end goal after you complete your post-secondary degree (career occupation, graduate school, etc).
2. Family background/Life experiences/Involvement. They want to know if your parents and siblings went to college, any obstacles you had to face and overcome in life, and examples of hard work and perseverance. They also want to know what you were involved in both in and outside of school (clubs, organizations, sports, and community service) and what you gained from being involvement.
3. Reasoning for applying. They want to know your plan of staying committed in college, the importance of receiving their scholarship, and why you should receive their scholarship.

Writing a personal essay/statement is like writing an English paper that should consist of 4-5 paragraphs - Introduction (1 paragraph), Body (2-3 paragraphs), and Conclusion (1 paragraph). Specific questions may be provided for students to answer, or in some cases, students will have the freedom to write about the topic of their choice. It should be something that only the student could have written, which makes it "personal".

The standard for a personal essay is normally:

- ✓ One page
- ✓ Double-spaced
- ✓ 12-font
- ✓ Four paragraphs

Introduction – background, goals, career aspirations, and why you chose those goals & career aspirations

4-6 sentences

Family background, obstacles you had to face, and any challenges you had to overcome

4-8 sentences

Involvement - Clubs, organizations, sports, and community service activities, and what you gained from being involved

4-8 sentences

Steps or plan to be successful in college, why you should receive the scholarship, and thank the scholarship donor/committee for being considered

PROCEDURES FOR LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

Letters of recommendation are most of the time required for admission to a college and even scholarships. Most colleges and scholarships often ask for two or three recommendation letters from people who know you well. These letters should be written by someone who can describe your skills, accomplishments, work ethic, personality, and future goals. Scholarships and post-secondary schools value recommendations because they:

- ✓ Reveal things about you that grades and test scores cannot.
- ✓ Provide personal opinions of your character, motivation, and future potential.
- ✓ Show who is willing to speak on your behalf

Letters of recommendation work on your behalf when they present you in the best possible light, showcasing that you have what it takes whether through skill or resilience to benefit from that particular scholarship or post-secondary school. Sometimes these letters can be the determining factor as to whether a student gets into a particular college or receives a scholarship. It is important to take time to figure out which teachers, school personnel or individuals from the community you want to write a letter of recommendation and what information you should provide to assist them in writing the best recommendation letter on your behalf.

1. First, ask this individual if they would be willing to write you a positive letter of recommendation. This should be done AT LEAST three to four weeks before your deadline. They should have enough time to write you a quality letter and it should be 2-3 paragraphs. Remember, they are doing you a favor by representing you to the best of their ability so be respectful and give them appropriate time.
2. After this individual agrees to write you a letter, complete the following questions below. This will help that individual write a better quality and more detailed letter on your behalf. Make sure that the deadline you give the individual is an exact date and will give them time to write it.

Info to Help References Writing Letters of Recommendation

- ✓ Your strengths and talents
 - ✓ Moments/accomplishments you are proud of that took place as a student/in life.
 - ✓ Your motivation in life.
 - ✓ Career interests/aspirations you see yourself pursuing/doing in the future.
3. Visit/contact the individual five to seven days before the deadline that you gave them just to remind them that the deadline is coming up. Ask them politely how the letter is coming along. Although this may seem redundant, it is an important step to ensure your letter is completed on time. Feel free to correspond with them via e-mail as well, for this tends to be the best communication for teachers and school personnel.
 4. Within a week after the deadline, make sure you write a thank you letter for their effort and time invested into your recommendation letter. This may not sound that important, however, your reference appreciate acknowledgement of their hard work. They will be grateful for a follow-up thank you letter

COLLEGE DICTIONARY

- Acceptance/Admission. This is when the school a student applied to lets them in.
- Accredited. Recognized associations of schools and colleges approve programs, procedures, and facilities of post-secondary schools, based on certain standardized criteria.
- ACT. College entrance exam that includes test areas in English, Math, Reading, Science and an optional writing section. Many Midwestern colleges require the ACT. Scores for each section are averages, which create a composite score. A perfect score is a 36.
- Application. Application is the process by which a student submits the required forms and credentials to the school he/she wants to attend. Application requirements may include one or more of the following: previous academic records, test scores, interviews, recommendations, and other information provided by the applicant.
- Arts and Sciences. A program of courses that does not primarily have a vocational aim; sometimes referred to as Liberal Arts.
- Associate Degree. A degree granted by a college or university after satisfactory completion of the equivalent of a two-year, full-time program of study.
- Bachelor's or baccalaureate degree. A degree received after the satisfactory completion of a four- or five-year, full-time program of study at a college or university. The bachelor of arts (B.A.) and a bachelor of science (B.S.) are the most common baccalaureates.
- Class Rank. A student's comparative standing in his/her high school class, based upon Grade Point Average (GPA). Class rank may be listed as a number or as a percentile. For example, a student who ranks above 375 of his 400 classmates would have a class rank of 24th, or be listed in the 94% percentile. Having a high class rank is important because both scholarship and college applications will want to know about it.
- College. A school of higher learning that grants a degree. College refers to a two-year or four-year school, or a university division.
- College Calendars. Traditional semester – two approximately equal semesters; quarter – four equal terms of about 12 weeks each; trimester – calendar year divided into three equal semesters, the third semester replaces summer school. Calendars are always listed in the school's catalog.
- College Fair. A free public event featuring regional and/or national college representatives and financial aid sessions.
- Common Application Form. A standardized form accepted by certain cooperating colleges and universities. Common applications can be real timesavers when applying to several select schools.
- Community Colleges (two year). Institutions that offer certificates, diplomas and associate degrees in a variety of programs.
- Cost of Attendance (COA). Cost of Attendance is the estimated cost of a full-time student completing one full year of his or her college education at a given school. It includes tuition, room and board (food), student fees, books and supplies, and transportation costs.
- Co-Ed. A school, facility, or program that includes both men and women. This term is usually used when referring to a university dorm.
- Credit Hour. A value generally given a particular course based on the number of class hours per week in a term. Most college classes are three credit hours, meaning their total meeting time for a week is three hours. Note that this does not include homework and other work done outside class.
- Curriculum. Courses of study.
- Deferred admission. The practice of permitting students to postpone enrollment, usually for one year, after acceptance to the college.

- Degree. Degrees are what students get for completing a program of study at a college or university. There are three basic types of degrees: Associate Degrees – obtainable at a two-year community or junior college, Bachelor’s Degrees – offered by four-year colleges and universities, and Graduate Degrees – obtained after the Bachelor’s Degree (for example – Master’s Degree, Doctoral Degree, etc.)
- Direct PLUS Loan. A federal loan that allows parents of a dependent student to borrow up to the cost of education minus other types of financial aid.
- Direct Subsidized Loan. A need-based federal student loan in which the government pays interest while the borrower is attending college.
- Direct Unsubsidized Loan. A federal student loan in which the borrower is responsible for all accrued interest, even while attending college.
- Distance learning. An option for earning college credit off-campus via cable television, Internet, satellite classes, videotapes, correspondence courses, or other means.
- Dual enrollment. Students may earn post-secondary school credit while still in high school from participating two-year and four-year schools.
- Elective. A course that is not a requirement.
- Expected Family Contribution (EFC). Determined by the FAFSA, this is the amount a family is expected to contribute toward their student’s college expenses. The EFC is subtracted from a college’s COA (Cost of Attendance) before an institution decides how much financial aid a student will receive. The general rule is the lower a student’s EFC, the higher the amount of financial aid offered.
- FAFSA. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is the required application to apply for any type of federal financial aid including grants, work-study and student loans.
- Full-Time student. At least 12 credit hours per semester
- General Educational Development (GED). A series of five tests that individuals who did not complete high school may take through their state education system to qualify for a high school equivalency certificate. Many colleges accept satisfactory GED test results in lieu of high school graduation.
- Graduate school. Advanced study beyond college graduation, i.e., Master’s or Doctoral degree.
- Grade-point average (GPA). A system used by many schools for evaluating the overall scholastic performance of students.
- Honors program. A college program for academically talented students that offers the opportunity for educational enrichment, independent study, acceleration, or some combination of these.
- Independent study. Individualized college coursework completed outside of the regular classroom structure under the direct supervision of the course instructor.
- Major. The student’s academic field of specialization. In general, most courses in the major are taken at the degree-granting institution during the junior and senior year.
- Military academies. Institutions that offer tuition-free education in exchange for military service.
- Minor. Similar to a major, a second area of concentrated study.
- Nonresident. Any student who lives out of state or does not meet specific state residency requirements. This is especially relevant for students applying to state universities.
- Online courses. Classes held on the internet instead of in a traditional classroom.
- Open admission. The college admission policy of admitting high school graduates and other adults generally without regard to conventional academic qualifications, such as high school subjects, high school grades, and admission test scores. Virtually all applicants with high school diplomas or their equivalent are accepted.
- Out-Of-State tuition. An additional fee charged by a state college or university to students who are non-residents.

- Post-Secondary Education. The study beyond the level of secondary education. Institutions of higher education include not only colleges and universities but also professional schools in such fields as law, theology, medicine, business, music, and art. They also include teacher-training schools, community colleges, and institutes of technology. At the end of a prescribed course of study, a degree, diploma, or certificate is awarded
- Private Career Schools. Institutions that specialize in technology-related fields or trades such as business or cosmetology. These schools award diplomas, certificates, associate degrees, and in some cases, bachelor degrees.
- Private Colleges. Institutions that financially rely on endowments, tuition and fund-raising campaigns. They do not receive government subsidies.
- Public Colleges. Institutions that are financially supported by the state in which they are located.
- Religious-Affiliated Colleges. Institutions that have a sponsoring denomination, but most welcome students who do not subscribe to that faith.
- Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC). Programs conducted by certain colleges in cooperation with the United States Air Force, Army, and Navy. Naval ROTC includes the Marine Corps. Local recruiting offices of the services themselves can supply detailed information about these programs, as can participating colleges.
- Residency. If a student lives within a state's boundaries for a specified number of months for a purpose other than higher education, he/she may attend one of the state's public colleges at a lower tuition cost than non-residents. Tuition at private colleges is not based on residency.
- Resume. A document that highlights one's contact information, education background, professional experience, honors, extracurricular activities, and coursework. A resume is always required when applying for any sort of professional job or internship and is usually what determines whether an applicant will receive an interview and/or be hired.
- SAT. College entrance exam that measures verbal, writing and math reasoning skills. Scores on each section range from 200-800 points.
- School Expenses. The total annual cost of tuition, fees, room, board, books, travel, personal expenses, etc.
- Student Aid Report (SAR). The federal report generated from filing or updating your FAFSA. The SAR summarizes your FAFSA information and provides the Expected Family Contribution amount. The SAR is either mailed to your or provided online via a secure Web link.
- Study Abroad. Any arrangement by which a student completes a brief part of their college program studying in another country. A college may operate a campus abroad, or it may have a cooperative agreement with some other U.S. college or an institution of the other country.
- Transcript. A copy of a student's official academic record listing all courses taken and grades received.
- Transfer student. A student who has attended another college for any period, which may be defined by various colleges as any time from a single term up to three years. A transfer student may receive credit for all or some of the courses successfully completed before the transfer.
- Tuition. The amount paid for each credit hour of enrollment. Tuition does not include the cost of books, fees, or housing.
- Universities and Colleges (4-year). Institutions that offer bachelor degrees and a variety of majors. Many also offer advanced degrees such as masters and doctorates.
- Work-Study. This program provides college students with a part-time to help pay for school. There are two different kinds of work-study: Federal Work-Study (run by the government) and non-Federal Work-Study (usually run by the college a student attends).
